

YOU
& Apple

YOU & Apple

Cian joined Apple on the 26th June 2014 as one of our first College program advisors for iOS T1. Cian is currently studying Mathematics & Education at NUIG and is in his 3rd year. Before this Cian spent two years studying computer engineering.

He has done tutoring for several years and feels this experience has been the most beneficial to his job at Apple despite it being fairly unrelated content.

Taking into consideration Cian is also part time working 20hrs per week and that this is his first customer support role this is a tremendous achievement.

I am delighted to have someone as talented as Cian within the team and wish him nothing but success for the future. Since the beginning, after coming out of training, Cian has been very active within the team. I noticed this early in team meetings when we had them regularly and in the chat rooms. Cian has been proactive in starting discussions and making me aware of concerns within the team.

YOU

& your customers

During his time at Apple Cian has delivered exceptional results out performing all of his colleagues. For example here are some of the results he has delivered for the last two quarters: CSAT 95.41%, IR 85.29%, AHT 14.17 & T2 Escalation rate 10.43%. Some of the best comments from his customers we can see below:

"Cian went over and above to help solve my issue. Would definitely want to speak with him again. He was patient and helped to solve my issue. Cian is an asset to your company and was a pleasure to speak with."

"Cian has resolved my problem with extreme efficiency, extreme patience and was very confident and reassuring from the very start."

"I can not praise Cian enough for the way that he handled my call with the patience and understanding that one normally only receives from Health Care professionals or fellow sufferers. On a scale of 1 to 10 I would rate Cian 11 so I therefore could not suggest anything better that could have been done to improve the service"

YOU

& your team

Cian's input in the team is really good. He is an active member in the team chat and does his part in creating a positive atmosphere amongst the team. Cian contributes to team spirit being very positive and taking initiative in helping others.

"The advisor knew what he was doing and had the necessary groundwork completed prior to contacting Account and Billing"

"From my point of view Cian has been a pleasure to work with. He has shown great enthusiasm and professionalism from the outset. He has been eager to improve and actively searches for feedback in that regard. He is always reliable when I reach out to the team providing a quick response and support when he can lend it. Has been active also in helping us out in busy periods with Additional Hours where his schedule will permit it. He is a nice genuine guy to speak with."

"Emails with best practices and tips to the group is another area in which Cian has shown his interest in helping the team to perform well - increasing awareness of workarounds for various technical issues"

YOU

& your manager

Apple takes great pride in providing stellar service to our customers in each and every interaction. Indeed, our business model has been built on the very principal of surprising and delighting and enriching our customer lives. It is no coincidence that we continue to top opinion polls for providing the best customer service and add countless awards to our trophy cabinet for being the best in class!

Quality and enhanced service delivery is a pivotal component of Apple's strategy. It is inherently linked to customer loyalty and successful growth.

"Any definition of good service is incomplete if not based on customer views" (Terry, 2012).

Based exclusively on our customer's opinions, it is with immense pride that we are delighted to welcome Cian Lyons again to the Apple Hall of Fame as an AppleCare CSAT Elite nominee!

Cian's outstanding commitment to provide best support to our Customers as well as contribution to his AppleCare Colleagues has warranted a place among CSAT Elite Nomination. Cian, keep up the excellent work you have produced so far in Apple!

